WELCOME

A warm welcome to the 2015 Hippodrome Festival of Silent Cinema in Bo'ness. It is a particular pleasure this year to be celebrating the Festival's fifth birthday as Scotland's only silent film festival continues to grow on the national cultural stage.

Offering a modern cinema experience year-round, the beautifully restored Hippodrome cinema first opened its doors in 1912 and is the perfect setting at the heart of this year's special programme of silent era films, workshops and events for everyone.

Once again we are honoured to welcome an excellent line-up of world-class musicians to perform live in the Hippodrome and at partner venues across the town of Bo'ness. The Festival's fifth birthday festivities are not to be missed. The atmosphere of discovery combines with a warm welcome from our staff to guarantee a unique celebration in a very special venue.

Ian Scott
Chair, Falkirk Community Trust

INTRODUCTION

We've pulled out all the stops for this our fifth Festival, packing the programme with rare and classic films from the world's archives and populating the Hippodrome and new venues across the town with a brilliant line-up of silent film accompanists from right across the musical spectrum. The films too embrace many genres, styles and nations but this year we have a special Scottish focus. 'Annie Laurie' is a romantic tartan Hollywood vision of Scotland, the Film Explainer unpacks Scot author Robert Louis Stevenson's 'Dr Jekyll and Mr Hyde', the life of so-called Scottish expat Eric Campbell is revealed in 'Chaplin's Goliath', silent stars visiting Scotland appear in our glamorous photographic portrait exhibition, Scottish Screen Archive shorts pepper the Festival, and two new commissions by exciting Scottish composers premiere at our not-to-be-missed Gala events. HippFest is now known far and wide for bringing together inspiring people and films in extraordinary venues, making for an experience much greater than the sum of its parts. HippFest number 5 will prove this yet again and we hope you will join us for a taste of the magic.

Scottish Screen Archive Shorts

We are proud to work closely with the Scottish Screen Archive, Scotland's national image collection. We will be screening short silent films from the archive before selected features in the Festival programme. Mike Nolan and Forrester Pyke, acclaimed Scottish silent film pianists, will be providing live accompaniment. Find out more about the collections available to view at ssa.nls.uk.

Opening Night

Chaplin's Goliath: Eric Campbell Double Bill

Wednesday 18 March | 19:30
£6.30 | £4.80 conc.

A rare showing of this documentary by acclaimed Scottish-born director, Kevin Macdonald ('Touching the Void', 'Last King of Scotland') which shines the spotlight on Charlie Chaplin's famous side-kick - the mountainous, moustachioed Eric Campbell, silent comedy's ultimate villain. Subtitled 'In Search of Scotland's Forgotten Star' new research has revealed that Campbell actually hailed from the Midlands in England but this factual detail never detracts from a fascinating portrait of the man who collaborated with Chaplin to create the wild, inventive and iconoclastic humour of the pair's much-loved Mutual films.

Followed by a screening of 'The Adventurer', Campbell's final work with Chaplin for the Mutual company.

Scottish Premiere

Hell's Hinges

Thursday 19 March | 19:30
£12.00 | £10.00 conc.

Saddle up for a thrilling night in the lawless town of Hell's Hinges "a gun fighting, man-killing, devil's den of iniquity" presided over by the Western genre's earliest star, William S. Hart as Blaze Tracy. Into town rides a weak-willed preacher, lured by the delectable promise of saving the souls of sinful women, with his virtuous-sister Faith in tow. Whilst the saloon-going townspeople bridle against the incomers' plans to build a church, Blaze is drawn to Faith's purity. Steeped in the traditions of Americana and renowned for their exuberant and skilful playing, The Dodge Brothers are joined at the Hippodrome by world-famous pianist-composer Neil Brand to perform their foot-stomping score evoking the glorious dusty panorama of the Wild West.

'Cuppa' Event

You Ain't Heard Nothin' Yet

Wednesday 18 March | 14:00

£3.20 or £6.30 incl. tea/coffee and cake

When Al Jolson uttered the immortal words, "Wait a minute... Wait a minute. You ain't heard nothin' yet" in the 1927 film 'The Jazz Singer', he heralded the end of silent cinema as an art form and the arrival of the 'talkies'. But the transition to sound was not straightforward or universally welcomed, with many predicting that the 'talkies' were a passing fad. Using fun film clips, this presentation by John Ritchie (University of Stirling) will tell the story of the transition between silent and sound cinema in Scotland. Prof John Caughie (University of Glasgow) will join the debate with an overview of Scottish cinemas in this era.

The Imperial War Museum Presents...

WW1 on Film

Friday 20 March | 14:00

£6.30 | £4.80 conc.

During WW1 the British government made over 1,000 films to record fighting, train troops and for propaganda. After 1918 the authorities had the foresight to deposit these films at the Imperial War Museum (IWM), leaving us with a remarkably powerful record of the life of the nation during one of the most traumatic and influential periods in modern history.

This programme of highlights from the IWM's collection, specially curated for HippFest by Senior Curator Dr Toby Haggith, presents rarely screened clips ranging from recruitment and the role of women to coverage of campaign fighting including the Air War and the Western Front, as well as moving scenes of post-War memorials.

£12.00 | £10.00 conc. incl. 'champagne' reception with live music by Gladstone's Bag
Dress code: 'flapper glamour'

The incomparable Neil Brand returns for the Festival's signature Gala event to accompany this sparkling comedy, long thought lost, and sadly one of only a handful of surviving features starring the instantly adorable Colleen Moore. Here she plays Betty Fairfax, an irrepressible country girl who moves to the mean streets of Gotham to learn to be wicked in order to be more convincing when performing as a sinful character in her fiancé's new play. Don't miss this rare chance to discover for yourself the star feted by F. Scott Fitzgerald as defining the 'flapper' for a generation.

Jeely Jar Screening

The Navigator

Saturday 21 March | 10:30

£4.00 | 2-for-1 with clean jam jar and lid

Hilarious Keaton comedy in which Buster is a profoundly ineffectual aristocrat cast adrift on an immense cruise-ship with his fiancée. This is one of Keaton's funniest and most gag-filled films, screening in our ever-popular Saturday morning family spot, introduced and accompanied by world-class musician, composer and broadcaster Neil Brand. For newcomers – the perfect introduction to the genius of Keaton, and for silent veterans – a reminder of why Keaton is considered by many the greatest actor/director in the history of cinema. The show starts with a chance to win prizes sponsored by Town Centre Management.

Goethe-Institut Glasgow presents

Children of No Importance (Die Unehelichen)

Saturday 21 March | 13:30

£9.00 | £7.00 conc.

The influential but somewhat neglected German filmmaker Gerhard Lamprecht made over 60 films from 1920 to the late 1950s, often motivated by "curiosity and human interest" and a desire to contribute to social justice. Here he turns his camera on the growing numbers of unwanted children in Berlin. Peter and Lotte live with another young girl Frieda under the care of a neglectful woman and her alcoholic husband. When Lotte becomes ill, the children are separated and dispersed to three very different homes. With a documentary style and amazing performances from the children, this affecting drama sets the standard for neo-realist filmmaking emerging 25 years later. We are delighted to welcome talented German pianist Richard Siedhoff to the Hippodrome for his British debut.

Finding herself no longer flavour-of-the-month, Mabel wages war on her exotic usurper... Described by Martin Scorsese as "a bold, beautifully crafted and completely modern picture", we are delighted to present the restored version of this thematically-rich film, with a live performance by Stephen Horne, voted the best solo accompanist for silent film in 2014 in last year's international poll by Silent London. www.silentlondon.co.uk

Saturday 21 March | 20:00
£12.00 | £10.00 conc.

Sought-after Scottish band Moişe's Bagel present their brand new score for this unjustly overlooked film from the Soviet Union described as "the last great documentary of the silent era". The band bring their intoxicating mix of Eastern European dance music, Middle Eastern rhythms, virtuoso performance and edge-of-the-seat improvisation to this visually stunning portrait of a remote Georgian village where the people scratch out a living using methods little-changed since the middle ages. A fascinating, near mythological ethnographic film, bearing the hallmarks of director Kalatozov's later, much celebrated 'I Am Cuba' and his formally daring, officially banned 'The Nail in the Boot'.

Another Fine Mess

Sunday 22 March | 13:30
£9.00 | £7.00 conc.

We are delighted to welcome John Sweeney – a silent film pianist admired the world over – for his first HippFest performance to accompany our 5th birthday Laurel and Hardy triple bill. John will accompany some of The Boys' best work from all stages of their career together, starting with 'Do Detectives Think' in which they play a couple of low-rent gumshoes hired by James Finlayson's judge to save him from a murderer intent on revenge. Next is 'The Second Hundred Years', their first after the official pairing, which finds Stan and Ollie staging a prison-break – bungled of course. Finally 'Bacon Grabbers' – their penultimate silent – in which the pair must serve papers on an ever evasive Edgar Kennedy.

Annie Laurie

Sunday 22 March | 20:00
£12.00 | £10.00 conc.

We close the Festival in fine style with the world premiere of a newly commissioned score by award-winning Scottish fiddle player Shona Mooney (2006 BBC Radio Scotland Young Traditional Musician of the Year) for this stirring epic starring Lillian Gish as the plucky Annie Laurie whose forbidden romance fuels the flames of hatred between the warring Macdonald and Campbell clans. Critics of the day praised the film's "substantial" plot, "colourful action, settings and costumes" and the "rugged scenes suggesting all the bluntness of Scotch character"! Be charmed by the timeless performance of one of silent cinema's most enduring icons and come dressed with a dash of tartan to finish the Festival in style!

The Film Explainer on Tour

"The show was extremely informative. The additional experience of sharing it with other members of the community let the children see that this was of interest to the entire community and not just the school." Participating class teacher, 2014 Tour

Following the success of last year's Tour, Andy Cannon, Wendy Weatherby and Frank McLaughlin will be back on the road performing their popular brand of storytelling and live music to all ages in community venues across the Falkirk area in the run-up to the Festival. More information can be found at: hippfest.co.uk.

THE PERFORMERS

Neil Brand

Hell's Hinges, Synthetic Sin, The Navigator, Mind the Gap

Neil is one of the UK's most established silent film accompanists, composers, writers and broadcasters and we're delighted that he's joining us at the Festival for a fifth year. His achievements are too extensive to list, but recent work includes 'A Night With Buster Keaton' with Paul Merton at Glasgow Film Festival and presenting landmark BBC Four series 'Sound of Song'.
www.neilbrand.com

The Dodge Brothers

Hell's Hinges

Renowned for playing an exuberant hybrid of country, blues, rockabilly, jugband and skiffle, the Dodge Brothers make a welcome return to the Festival for a third year, with previous performances for 'The Ghost That Never Returns' and 'Beggars of Life' raising the Hippodrome roof. Neil Brand will join them as "the fifth Dodge" for their accompaniment to 'Hell's Hinges' this year.

Stephen Horne

Piccadilly

Although principally a pianist, Stephen often incorporates flute, accordion and keyboards into his performances, sometimes simultaneously. He has delighted previous HippFest audiences with his extraordinary scores including 'Visages D'Enfants' (2014), 'The First Born' and 'A Cottage on Dartmoor' (2012). His compositions can be heard on many admired DVD releases and at silent film festivals around the world.

Andy Cannon, Frank McLaughlin, Wendy Weatherby

Mind the Gap, The Film Explainer Presents...

Fresh from the success of his epic personal history of Scotland 'Tales of a Grandson', leading storyteller Andy Cannon is reunited with cellist/composer Wendy Weatherby and piper/guitarist Frank McLaughlin for a HippFest return. Wendy's wide musical interests have led to acclaimed large-scale commissions with Celtic Connections, Channel 4 and BBC2. Frank is a renowned musician, teacher and collaborator known for co-producing major education project 'A Scots Chorus'.

Dr Toby Haggith

Toby has published numerous essays on film and history, is the co-editor of 'Holocaust and the Moving Image: Representations in Film and Television Since 1933' and the co-leader on high profile film restoration projects including 'The Battle of the Ancre and Advance of the Tanks' (1917). www.iwm.org.uk

Moishe's Bagel

Salt for Svanetia, The HippFest Speakeasy

This in-demand Scottish band combines the energy and passion of Eastern European folk music with Middle Eastern rhythms and the excitement and soul of improvisation, bringing a new dimension to the modern silent movie soundtrack. The world premiere of their Festival-commissioned score to 'Salt for Svanetia' will tour Scotland and be available on CD release later in 2015.

Shona Mooney

Annie Laurie, The HippFest Speakeasy

Fiddler Shona has released albums and toured worldwide since winning the 2006 BBC Radio Scotland Young Traditional Musician of the Year. Her work is celebrated for covering "the whole spectrum from stripped-down simplicity to far-out electronic experimentation". Shona will perform her Festival-commissioned score with Amy Thatcher (accordion) and Alasdair Paul (guitar) at London's Barbican in spring 2015.

Forrester Pyke

Scottish Screen Archive Shorts, The Adventurer

Forrester has had a successful career as a teacher and musical director and is one of the most highly respected silent film accompanists in Scotland. For over 20 years he has brought many of the great silents vividly to life for a new generation of cinemagoers with his talent for composition and improvisational technique in Scotland's leading venues.

Jason Singh

Beatboxing + Silent Film

Musician, composer, sound artist and workshop facilitator, Jason's sound and music output is generated through his ongoing exploration of the human voice and its application to art, music technology, education, nature and the environment. His exhilarating score for John Grierson's 'Drifters' was a HippFest 2014 hit and Jason regularly tours internationally with this and his other innovative cross-artform collaborations.

Mike Nolan

Scottish Screen Archive Shorts, IWM WW1 on Film

Mike works across Scotland as a freelance composer and performer has accompanied silent film screenings for about 20 years. These include several commercial releases and recordings and live performances for the Scottish Screen Archive, playing at HippFest 2013 and 2014. Mike is also a Nordoff-Robbins trained music therapist.

Richard Siedhoff

Children of No Importance

Born in Weimar, Richard Siedhoff's passion for silent film music began at school and since 2008 he has accompanied more than one hundred silent films on the piano combining his own compositions and improvisations. Richard performs on piano and cinema organ regularly throughout Germany including at Munich Film Museum, International Silent Film Festival Bonn, Grassi Museum Leipzig and is house pianist at the Lichthaus Kino Weimar, where he also curates the silent film programme.

Silent Stars in Scotland

Forth Valley Royal Hospital www.nhsforthvalley.com:

Tuesday 17 February - Sunday 15 March

Bo'ness Library (see venue info below):

Thursday 19 March - Tuesday 14 April

Admission free

The advent of talkies in the late 1920s hit Hollywood like an earthquake. So said sultry silent star Pola Negri in a Scottish newspaper in 1931. One of the biggest screen stars of her day, she was now treading the boards on the British variety circuit – paving the way, it turned out, for her fellow “silent” players who would follow her to Scotland’s theatres. During the 1930s, stars who had only existed on celluloid for movie fans here in Scotland materialised on their very doorsteps, with voices. ‘Silent Stars in Scotland’ presents Glasgow Herald archive press photographs unseen for over 70 years of legendary actors and actresses from the silent era, including some of this year’s HippFest stars: Lillian Gish (‘Annie Laurie’), Laurel & Hardy (‘Another Fine Mess’), and Anna May Wong (‘Piccadilly’).

Curated and researched by award-winning Scottish journalist Alison Kerr, this fascinating exhibition reveals the stories behind the pictures. Don’t miss the gossip as it tours to community venues in the Falkirk area.
